Harvard Milk Days 2024

By Charles Herbst

This weekend, May 31 – June 2, is the 83rd annual celebration of Milk Days, a local holiday, annual reunion for the community, and an opportunity to celebrate all things Harvard.

Most of the events have a dairy theme. Dairying has always been a major industry in Harvard. It enabled the community to provide the US Armed Forces with a steady supply of milk during World War II. Milk Days began out of desire to celebrate and honor that accomplishment.

Every year, on Saturday morning at 5AM, to prepare for the Milk Days Parade, Ayer Street is whitewashed to simulate a milky path. Whitewashing begins at the intersection with Division and Diggins Streets, where Harmilda the cow holds court. (Whitewash is chiefly made of lime, chalk, and water, and it is environmentally benign.)

A country breakfast is held at 9 AM in the Stratford Banquet Hall. Milk is on the menu.

The parade begins on Saturday at 1PM along the freshly-whitewashed Ayer Street. This year's Grand Marshall is sixth-generation Harvardite Kathleen Robson, a retired schoolteacher and active Harvard volunteer. Ms. Robson has frequently been named volunteer of the year and has been named a Harvard Hometown Hero.

Most of the other events take place at Milky Way Park on the western edge of the city, just off Brink Street (Illinois 173). There is a carnival with rides, a chainsaw carver, a petting zoo, and various food and soft drink options, including milk, of course.

If you didn't get enough milk at the country breakfast, try the milk drinking contest at 4PM.

There will be still more milk at the 5PM milking contest.

Throughout the weekend, several rounds of Harvard's infamous "cow chip bingo" will be played. For anyone unfamiliar with this enterprise, each player purchases squares on a grid that corresponds to a field that is also marked off with large squares. The object is to prognosticate upon which square in the field that a cow will relieve herself. After all of the squares on the grid have been sold, the cow is brought into the field to do her duty. This year, the lotto is being run by the local 4H. Remember, it's for a good cause.

There will be music on Friday night at the park featuring No Limit, a 1970s-forward cover band. More music on Sunday night with The Beaux Band, a classic rock band. Fireworks follow the Sunday concert.

Milk Days provides several scholarships for Harvard students, including one reserved for a student pursuing a career in the agricultural in-

A City's Identity

By Charles Herbst

One of a community's strongest assets is its identity. When one thinks of New Orleans or Las Vegas, certain images come to mind. (Of course, East Saint Louis creates an altogether different image.) But when one sees a tired, small town with nothing to offer boasting about being "a fine place to raise a family," you know it's time to keep on driving!

Harmilda gives Harvard its identity. The cow standing at the corner of Division, Diggins, and Ayer Streets is famous. At one time, she was standing in the intersection, but has safely retreated to the southwest corner! Harmilda's name is a contraction of the words "Harvard Milk Days." This year, Harmilda's grounds are being spiffed up a bit to provide a more accessible, appealing backdrop for the city's beloved mascot.

While Harmilda and Milk Days are whimsical, Harmilda and Milk Days distinguish the community from the endless number of Chicago exurbs desperately trying to achieve some of the economic prosperity found in the metropolitan area. Harvard is an increasingly sophisticated community that is taking the steps to become a desirable bedroom community for high-tech workers who are working remotely and seeking a smaller-city lifestyle:

- The administration and City Council are working to bring fiber-optic, high-speed internet with both upload and download speeds of 2gb for under $100/month to the entire city. The City Council is considering several proposals, with the primary goal being to bring this level of service to Harvard as quickly and economically as possible.

- Harvard has a new economic development director and issued nineteen residential building permits last year. It is on pace to issue fifty this year.

Harvard Adopts New Logo

By Charles Herbst

The City of Harvard's new corporate logo proudly features Harmilda the Cow. The city administration, one of the area's more progressive, decided that Harvard's former logo with the globe and arrow looked dated, and did not present the image that Harvard was seeking.

Harvard has about 10,000 people and it strives to keep costs down. For example, its City Hall campus is a former branch bank that was creatively expanded to include a community room and a police station. Recently, the sewage treatment plant was updated and expanded. To cut costs, the plant incorporates the facilities of a former car dealer. The search for a new logo was no exception.

With a very modest budget for the project, Harvard reached out to the students and faculty of McHenry

Foster Introduces Legislation to Increase Transparency of Social Media Data Collection

Congressman Bill Foster (D-IL) introduced the Designing Accounting Safeguards to Help Broaden Oversight and Regulations on Data (DASHBOARD) Act. This legislation would require data harvesting companies like social media platforms to tell consumers and financial regulators exactly what data they are collecting from customers and how it is being leveraged for profit.

The DASHBOARD Act would:

- Require commercial data operators (services with over 100 million monthly active users) to disclose the types of data collected, as well as regularly provide their users with an assessment of the value of that data.
- Require commercial data operators to file an annual report on the aggregate value of user data they have collected, as well as contracts with third parties involving data collection.
- Require commercial data operators to allow users to delete all, or individual fields, of data collected, and disclose to users all the ways in which their data is being used, including any uses not directly related to the online service for which the data was originally collected.

● E m p o w e r the SEC to develop methodologies for calculating data value, while encouraging the agency to facilitate flexibility that would allow businesses to adopt methodologies that reflect the different uses, sectors, and business models.

“For far too long, social media companies have been telling consumers that their platforms are ‘free’ to use, when that’s not the full story,” Foster said. “Consumers – often unknowingly – pay with their unique data, which the companies collect and sell to third parties for things like targeted ads. The DASHBOARD Act would increase the transparency of the data collected by these platforms by requiring these companies to tell consumers how much their data is worth and who it is being shared with.”

OP-ED

Remembrance

Monday was Memorial Day, an almost unique holiday for us. We do not celebrate with joy; rather, we honor fallen soldiers with wistful sadness in our hearts. Part of that sadness stems from the fact that so many of us know, or knew, some of those we honor.

We honor those brave men and women who gave what Lincoln termed “the last full measure of devotion.” We honor those who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country—or rather, for us. Given what they did, mere words seem inadequate.

We honor those who died giving birth to our country. We honor those who preserved the Union and ended what Lincoln labeled “the scourge of slavery.” Included as honorees are the Black soldiers who were fighting to make this country their country.

We honor those who fell in two world wars, wars fought for at least partially altruistic reasons. Among those we honor are the Japanese Americans who in World War II formed one of the most decorated combat units, while many of their family members languished in detention centers here at home.

We honor those who fell in Korea and Vietnam, while most of us simply went about our business here at home. We honor those who today still fight the long, lonely twilight war against terrorism.

What is a common theme in all these acts of heroism? In an old war novel an admiral, witnessing extraordinary heroism, wonders, “Where do we find such men?” Today, equally awestruck, we ask, “Where do we find such men and women?”

Working Through the Night, Lawmakers Finalize Budget

Democrats needed three tries to pass $1.1 billion revenue plan just before 5 a.m.

By Jerry Nowicki Capitol News Illinois
Hannah Meisel contributed.

After a near-derailment and an all-nighter to wrap up the General Assembly's spring session, supermajority Democrats in the Illinois House gave final legislative approval to the state budget as the sun rose Wednesday morning.

Despite holding 78 seats in the chamber, it took Democrats three tries to reach the 60 votes needed to approve more than $1.1 billion in revenue increases, including a tax hike on sportsbooks and businesses, to balance the $53.1 billion spending plan for fiscal year 2025.

The spending plan passed 65-45, with seven Democrats joining Republicans in opposition.

The revenue plan that capped the voting on the budget-related bills was more of a challenge. House Bill 4951 fell one vote short of passage twice after 4 a.m. due to attendance issues. On the third try – after about an hour of procedural maneuvering by Republicans that left Democrats reeling – the bill passed at 4:43 a.m. with the minimum 60 votes necessary.

"You – you passed these rules," Rep. Patrick Windhorst, R-Metropolis, scolded Democrats after the majority party voted to suspend the House rules in order to bring the revenue plan up for a vote a third and final time.

"I think it should be clear to everyone in the state what this supermajority is willing to do to ram a tax increase down the throats of the citizens of Illinois at 4:30 in the morning," he added.

Democrats had earlier highlighted that despite a tight fiscal year, the budget would send $198 million to the state's "rainy day" fund and make the full payment into the state's pension systems that is required by law.

Rep. Jehan Gordon-Booth, a Peoria Democrat and the lead budget negotiator in the House, pointed to the state's nine credit upgrades of the past four years. And she noted a backlog of unpaid bills that reached nearly $17 billion seven years ago under Republican Gov. Bruce Rauner has shrunk to a bill payment cycle that lasts "mere days."

"Democrats have set this state on a fiscally responsible course, one that will continue with today's state budget," she said.

Gov. JB Pritzker says he'll sign the plan for the fiscal year that begins July 1, which spends about $400 million more than what he requested in his February budget address. In a statement after its passage, the governor claimed investments made in the budget will grow Illinois' economy and continue a "track record of fiscal responsibility" while prioritizing working families.

"From expectant mothers and their newborn babies to people with disabilities to veterans to seniors who need our care, we're keeping our promises to all Illinoisans and the most vulnerable among us," Pritzker said.

The budget cleared the General Assembly five days after lawmakers had scheduled their spring session's adjournment, although the May 24 "deadline" was a largely arbitrary date that left a week on the calendar as a contingency plan. Negotiations were complicated by inflation and other spending pressures driving up the expected cost of government, while economists predict the state's economy will slow in the upcoming fiscal year.

Still, Democrats approved the spending plan with several votes to spare but no Republican support – as they've done every year in Pritzker's tenure except the first in 2019.

Republicans argued the pace of spending growth – and the fact that some of the revenues raised to pay for it are temporary – set the state on pace for an even tighter fiscal year 2026.

Overall, state spending grew by about 5 percent from last year's enacted plan, or about 1.6 percent above expected end-of-year expenditures following a supplemental spending plan's inclusion in the budget package this week.

Democrats highlighted a $50 million appropriation for a child tax credit for children under 12 if their household qualifies for the state's Earned Income Tax Credit. The plan contains $200 million for after-school and summer youth programs and $45 million for grants through the Reimagine Public Safety Act aimed at violence reduction.

But Republicans accused Democrats of having misplaced priorities, pointing to hundreds of millions of dollars for programs serving noncitizens.

The budget includes $182 million to provide shelter, health care and other services for recently arrived migrants, many of whom have been bused to the state from Texas. And it includes $440 million from the General Revenue Fund for two programs providing state-funded Medicaid-like benefits to noncitizens, with $189 million from other state funds as well.

New revenues

More than $1.1 billion in added revenue was needed to balance the books, so lawmakers extended an expiring cap on corporate net operating losses to ensure that $526 million in tax dollars wouldn't disappear in FY25. Another $25 million will be raised by subjecting "re-renters" of hotel rooms to an existing state hotel tax.

Sportsbooks will see their current 15 percent tax rate on profits increase via a new graduated structure that will tax between 20 and 40 percent, based on profits. The change is projected to bring in about $200 million to the state's General Revenue Fund. A 1 percentage point increase to the tax on the state's video gambling industry would generate an additional $35 million for infrastructure projects next year.

The revenue plan also caps a tax discount claimed by retailers at $1,000 monthly, generating $101 million for state coffers and about $85 million for municipalities.

To appease retailers, lawmakers included a prohibition on financial institutions and credit card companies charging fees on the sales tax and gratuity portion of electronic transactions beginning July 1, 2025.

The Illinois Retail Merchants Association was also given a $5 million line item for workforce grants.

Rep. Fred Crespo, D-Hoffman Estates, voted for the budget, but during debate over the revenue proposal, he said he was disappointed that leadership didn't consider hiring freezes, changes to weight loss drugs covered by state insurance or other spending controls he suggested.

"There's really only one place you can look at getting these revenues, and that's taxpayers," he said before voting against the bill. "And at this rate, ladies and gentlemen, we're gonna run out of taxpayer dollars to spend."

The budget package also freed up about $200 million in revenue by redirecting $150 million from the Road Fund and $50 million from the Leaking Underground Storage Fund to public transit. The move was opposed by organized labor because it diverts Road Fund money to the state's discretionary

This compares with an average of one per year for the past decade.

• For years, the community has tried to increase the quality of its parks and recreational opportunities. A new parks and recreation director has been hired and will begin working next month. The city has made plans to redevelop and update Milky Way Park. The park will be updated in stages, beginning with the southern portion. Harvard is applying for a federal open-space land development grant to defray the expense. The administration believes these enhancements will be a fitting reward for the Milk Days organization, Harvard Hornets, and many others who have generously contributed over the years to programs and the development of the park.

• Metra has established a new fare structure that lowers the cost of the 63-mile train ride from Harvard to Downtown Chicago to $6.75. Tickets to all other stations, including Jefferson Park, cost $3.75. With the direct CTA connection at Jefferson Park, it's possible to make a two-seat trip to O'Hare, and then fly nonstop throughout the United States, as well as globally. Direct connections are also available at Jefferson Park to many other points, including Wrigley Field. An unlimited Metra weekend day pass is $7. A pass for the entire weekend is $10.

County College for help. A design by Jackie Malinowski, originally intended for the Harvard Parks Foundation, showed promise. After some tinkering by Violet Luczak, graphic arts instructor at MCC, Tom Evers of First Place Promotions, and several MCC students, the new logo came to life.

Besides Harmilda, the logo has silos and fields to reflect the community's continuing agricultural legacy, and a biplane to symbolize Dacy Airport. The relatively simple logo uses navy blue, white, and gold to present a fresh look, with a color scheme that, within the local area, is unique to Harvard.

Jackie Malinowski, originally from Harvard and now living in Cary, was paid $300 for the logo, and a student at MCC was given an additional $100 for his efforts on the project.

spending fund, but Democrats promised it would only happen in the upcoming fiscal year.

"I can go through this list of tax increases that you're using to say that you're being good fiscal stewards of the state's money," Rep. C.D. Davidsmeyer, R-Jacksonville, said in a committee hearing Tuesday evening before the early morning vote. "Meanwhile, I'm hearing about making sure that there's Democrat pork projects, to make sure that you can get the votes for your budget."

Davidsmeyer contended Democratic senators were each given the authority to request $3 million in district-specific infrastructure projects in the budget, while Democratic members of the House got about $1.5 million each. Republicans were shut out of requesting their own member initiatives.

District-specific projects have been used time and again to incentivize members to vote for the budget, with the Chicago Tribune tracking at least $150 million in infrastructure spending for lawmaker-led initiatives in the current-year budget. No spokespeople would confirm or deny the amount allocated for lawmaker initiatives.

The final roughly 80 pages of the budget bill contain a long list of projects, most of them ranging from $50,000 to $1 million sums to various specifically named businesses, local governments and other entities.

Infrastructure and more

Despite the diversion of money from the Road Fund, the budget includes $3.5 billion for infrastructure – about $500 million more than what Pritzker had outlined in his February budget proposal.

That includes $500 million to support the development of a regional quantum information science and technology campus, allocated from a specific economic-development focused bond fund known as Build Illinois.

Another bill allowing the Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity to designate "quantum campuses" also lays out infrastructure and business incentives to lure developers of new-age higher-speed computing technology to the state. That measure also expands and extends several other popular tax credit programs, such as the Reimagining Energy and Vehicles Act and the Economic Development for a Growing Economy, or EDGE, program.

The state's municipalities, meanwhile, will get another $400 million for local road projects, a measure that helped neutralize their opposition to a part of the budget plan that eliminates one of their sources of revenue – the statewide 1 percent grocery tax.

But the grocery tax repeal won't happen until 2026, and local governments will be given authority to enact their own grocery tax up to 1 percent without a referendum. Home rule jurisdictions will be able to increase their sales tax by up to 1 percent without a referendum as well.

Other spending items include:

Funding for a 5 percent pay hike for lawmakers' base salary to $93,712. State law sets lawmakers' pay to increase annually with inflation, and lawmakers took no action to stop it from occurring in FY25.

- The annual $350 million increase in K-12 education funding, called for by a 2017 law that overhauled Illinois' school funding formula.

- A 2 percent – or $30 million – increase for community colleges and public universities.

- A $10 million increase to Monetary Award Program grants for lower-income college students.

- Full funding for Pritzker's "Smart Start" plan aimed at adding 5,000 preschool seats across the state and providing workforce grants.

- $14 million to launch the newly created Department of Early Childhood, which Pritzker has promised would streamline services currently provided by three different state agencies.

- $45 million for a teacher vacancy pilot program to help underserved districts with teacher retention.

- A $1 hourly increase for direct service professionals who serve individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities in community-based settings.

- An increase totaling $70 million for Community Care Program workers serving older adults who can't live independently.

- $5 million for a tax credit program for news outlets beginning in 2025 and claimable the following year.

- $10 million for the governor's plan to erase $100 million in total medical debt for Illinoisans through a partnership with the nonprofit Undue Medical Debt. House Bill 5290 laid out that applicants must earn 400 percent of the federal poverty level or less.

- $900 million for renovation at state prisons, including a possible tear down and rebuild of Stateville and Logan Correctional Centers.

- $4 million to create a statewide maternal health plan and distribute grants to community-based reproductive health care providers.

- $155 million for safety net hospitals.

- A $90 million increase for Home Illinois, a program created last year to address homelessness, bringing total funding to $290 million.
